Chiropractic Perspective and the Posture Continuum

Saturday, April 13, 2024 | 2pm-6pm

Posture can play a significant role in keeping patients and chiropractors on the right track through all stages of care. Every move we make is built on top of past movement patterns that our bodies remember and for good reason. When we figure out what habits work, we want to build on them, while habits that don't work can be affiliated with pain so we can recognize and avoid them. With greater awareness of posture, we can learn from each experience and make lasting changes to our lifestyle. A chiropractors unique functional understanding of the spine can help people improve posture and reach their potential in life performance. In this lecture you will learn more about the relationship between posture and function, both cognitive and physical, with a focus on balance and breathing. We will cover simple steps that you can take to help patients take better advantage of your care and raise your clinical standards in the process.

Dr. Bajaj began his practice in Chiropractic in New York City in 2001 with a focus on wellness and integrative health care strategies. He currently owns and operates Bajaj Chiropractic in New York City and Well Rooted Health in Westfield, NJ. He served as brain research consultant to the Path Foundation and co-founded the American Decompression Pro Chiropractors which introduced the patented Neuro-Oxy Spinal Decompression Technique. His research in the fields of chiropractic, subluxation, neuroscience, addiction, electrotherapeutics, genetics and cognitive functional correlations to bone metabolism were published in peer-reviewed journals including BMC Endocrine Disorders.

James Forster DC

Nutritional Effects on Blood Chemistry

Sunday, April 14, 2024 | 10am-12pm

Today we are primary healthcare providers, so we need to know how to do assess quantitative analysis in order to be thorough. In this presentation, attendees will be instructed on the "biochemical x-ray" and will learn to understand the value and insight to combine qualitative with quantitative, as well as correlating objective (blood test) with subjective (patient symptoms).

Participants will be able to track results for health issues such as hypercholesterolemia, diabetes, hyperuricemia, and hypertension, and pinpoint the main area of inflammation.

Dr. James Forster is a 2nd generation doctor of chiropractic in his 39th year of practice. Teaching CE since 2016 on this topic, Dr. Forster evaluates more than 500+ labs per year. He has spoken for many institutions, as well as on the radio on the benefits of chiropractic, nutrition, and health

Warren Hammer DC MS DABCO

Sponsored by NCMIC

Necessity of Fascial Manipulation® in the Chiropractic Practice

Saturday, April 13, 2024 | 2pm-6pm

Most practitioners concentrate their treatment on the site of pain. Most chronic conditions are compensating for a previous injury, surgery, or stress to their body. It is necessary during a history to determine possible connections. The fascial system is the chief connective system in the body. That chronic low back pain may be caused by an old ankle sprain or fracture, etc. Participants will learn that a global approach is necessary to prevent recidivism. Areas close to the spine can be causative of chronic spinal problems, and they will come away from this program with knowledge of the fascial system and the value of a global approach.

Dr. Warren Hammer energizes his audiences with a wry sense of humor and personal experiences from more than 50 years. Although his lectures are steeped in evidence-based information, he shares his personal experiences with soft tissue and articular situations that he states, "science has not caught up with yet."

Bulletproof Your Practice: Keys to Creating an "Audit-Proof" Documentation

Sunday, April 14, 2024 | 8am-10am

In this two-hour session, attendees will learn how not to fall victim to a documentation audit. In today's healthcare environment, it is not a matter of if but rather when a practice will have its documentation scrutinized. We will discuss the benefits as well as the pitfalls that electronic health records have brought to today's modern practice. We will discuss, as well, what constitutes a "perfect note" so that when a practice has to endure an audit, the practice can proceed with confidence. Issues regarding compliance, errors in compliance, and special considerations for Medicare documentation will also be presented.

An Ethical Approach to Handling Data

Sunday, April 14, 2024 | 10am-12pm

In this 2-hour course, attendees will learn to become aware of how they are generating data on a daily basis and how best to manage, transmit, and store data. The use of technology can be a valuable addition to most every practice, but failure to take precautions to safeguard these technologies and the data they create present everyday challenges. Areas often overlooked such as telephone and email communication as well as social media activity will be presented. Special consideration will be given to taking a proactive approach through the use of security risk analysis tools that have both practical as well as compliance benefits

Dr. Jeff Lewin is the CEO of New Compass Coaching, a national practice consulting management company that helps doctors build successful and profitable practices that focus on outcomes-based systems that yield outstanding clinical results. He lectures at healthcare conferences throughout the United States as well as internationally on topics including solid documentation, billing and coding procedures, active care and physical rehabilitation protocols, outcomes-based care models, compliance and helping doctors get appropriately paid despite limitations set forth by third parties.

Practice Management Seminar

Join us on Saturday, April 13, 2024 from 8am to 12pm for a practice management program designed particularly for new practitioners, chiropractic assistants, and chiropractic students!

Sponsored by Eclipse Practice Management Software, Dr. Jeff Lewin will be presenting the following topics:

The Team Approach to Perfect Case Management

This course will offer insight on how each member of the practice team can play a role in creating a high value patient experience that motivates and inspires patients to want to receive the most from their care plan. We will demonstrate to all members of a practice team...doctors and CA's alike...how each plays a vital role in the patient's care plan and the patient experience overall.

Starting with gaining a solid understanding of the patient experience attendees will see how clinical outcomes and follow through on a care plan are not always linked to an actual treatment, but also the perception of value that the patient places on their total experience. Learning to identify specific goals for care for each patient and how each member of the team can play a role in communicating these will be a key focus.

An overview of functional outcomes that a practice can implement as simple methods to move each patient from therapeutic care to wellness will be offered.

Compliant Patient Financial Procedures for 2024

This course, appropriate for doctors and their support team, will provide up-to-date and compliant skills for handling the myriad of financial situations that are commonly seen in practices today. Understanding the revenue cycle of insurance claims, how to handle cash, and how best to handle the hybrid of insurance and cash that many patients will present with will be key components to this course.

Special attention will be paid to the proper use of the new Medicare Advance Beneficiary Notice (ABN). Also addressed will be the No Surprises Act as well as how to handle any pre-paid services and remain in compliance with Florida law.

Reduced registration fees for CAs attending with a registered DC, DCs licensed fewer than 3 years, and chiropractic students! See the event registration page for pricing details.
